

A Joint Conference of RCIE, AKES, and KDI

Korea and the World Economy, II

University of Washington, Seattle, U.S.A

August 1 - 2, 2003

(for more information, please visit <http://faculty.Washington.edu/karyiu>)

Organizers: Hee Yhon Song, President, Association of the Korean Economic Studies (AKES)
Choong Soo Kim, President, Korea Development Institute (KDI)
Kar-yiu Wong, Director, Research Center for International Economics (RCIE), University of Washington

Organizing Units: Association of the Korean Economic Studies (AKES)
Korea Development Institute (KDI)
Research Center for International Economics (RCIE), University of Washington

Sponsors: International Studies Program, University of Washington
East Asia Studies Program, University of Washington
CIBER, Business School, University of Washington
Korea Studies Program, University of Washington
The Korea Research Foundation

Host: Department of Economics, University of Washington

Program Committee: Kar-yiu Wong, University of Washington (co-chair)
Chung Mo Koo, Kangwon National University (co-chair)
Joshua Aizenman, University of California, Santa Cruz
Hong-Tack Chun, Korea Development Institute
Gary Hamilton, University of Washington
Lawrence Krause, University of California, San Diego
Jong Won Lee, Sungkyunkwan University
Peter Lloyd, University of Melbourne
Young Man Yoon, University of Incheon

Local Organizers: Haideh Salehi-Esfahani, University of Washington (chair)
Geun Mee Ahn, University of Washington
Hansung Kim, University of Washington
Min Sun Kim, University of Washington
Jaerang Lee, University of Washington
Il-Seok Yang, University of Washington

This is a sequel to a previous conference on the same theme held in Seoul, Korea, July 21-22, 2002.

Themes: Theoretical and/or empirical papers on Korea, Asia-Pacific, and the world economy are being sought. Papers in the following areas are especially welcome:

- the Korean economy and its external economic relations
- trade, foreign investment, and the financial systems in Korea and Asia
- inter-Korean economic relations and cooperation
- intra-regional economic relations and regionalism in the Asia-Pacific region
- the new WTO multilateral round and East Asia
- Asian economic growth and economic development
- Asia and the world economy

Submission of Papers and Abstracts: Economists, researchers, policy makers, and practitioners are invited to submit (via e-mail preferred but by mail possible) a draft of a paper or an extended abstracts (500+ words long) for presentation consideration. Please include in a cover letter your name, affiliation, academic position, mail and e-mail addresses, and phone and fax numbers, by March 31, 2003 to:

- ❑ for people in the U.S. and other places (except Korea): to Kar-yiu Wong, Department of Economics, University of Washington, Seattle, WA 98195-3330, U. S. A.
<karyiu@u.washington.edu>
- ❑ for people in Korea: to Chung Mo Koo, Faculty of Economics and International Trade, Kangwon National University, 192-1 Hyoja 2-dong, Chuncheon 200-701, Korea.
<cmkoo@kangwon.ac.kr>

Please indicate that in your letter if your paper had been presented in another conference or has been accepted for publication. If a paper is accepted, its completed version for presentation is due June 30, 2003.

Discussants and Chairs: People interested in discussing a paper and/or chairing a session should contact us.

Registration Fees: US$100 (or US$40 for students upon approval). Participants, especially those from developing countries, can apply for a waive of the registration fee.

Publication: All papers related to the Korean economy will be invited to be submitted for publication consideration in a special issue of Journal of the Korean Economy, the English journal of the Association of the Korean Economic Studies.

For more information about this conference and the previous one held in Seoul, Korea, July 2002, please visit <http://faculty.washington.edu/karyiu/>